Induction Of All Essential Men Over 26 Halted

Workers In Agricultural, War Production And War Supporting Activities Affected

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—Men in essential jobs who have passed their twenty-sixth birthdays today were given a temporary reprieve from induction.

Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey announced that he has instructed state directors to postpone processing of such men for induction until the processing of those under 26 has been "substantially accomplished."

The action, effective immediately, applies to those men 26 and over who are "making a contribution to essential agricultural, war production or war supporting activities," even though they have passed their physical examinations and have been ordered to report for induction. The postponement is automatic, selective service said, requiring no action by the men affected.

Need Younger Men

This action was taken at the request of the army and navy, both of which informed selective service that their need of young men is greater than that of immediately filling induction calls with older men.

Each state director was instructed to keep the postponement of processing older men in effect until he is satisfied that processing the younger men "has been substantially accomplished." Officers at national headquarters said it was impossible to estimate how long that will be.

Previous instructions to draft boards put men under 26 first in line in the process of reviewing their occupational deferments. But a man over 26 already in 1-A was not automatically delayed until today's order.

Text Of Order

The text of Hershey's order:

"The war and navy departments have informed the director of selective service that the immediate necessity for young men in the armed forces is greater than the need to immediately fill calls by inductions of older men.

"The war and navy departments have now requested the director of selective service to take additional measures to accomplish the immediate necessity for young men even though such measures may result in the current call not being filled.

"You are therefore directed to exercise your authority to postpone the processing for induction of men 26 and over who are making a contribution to essential agricultural, war production or war supporting activities even though such men have been found acceptable for military service or have been ordered to report for induction or pre-induction physical examinations.

"Postponement of the processing of such men should remain in effect until you are satisfied that the processing of men under the age of 26 has been essentially accomplished.

"You are authorized to make individual exceptions to this instruction upon the recommendation of the local board or upon your own decision. Previous instructions to currently forward for induction sufficient additional men to make up shortages in previous months calls are hereby rescinded."

Effective At Once

Col. McDermott informed the 280 local boards in New York City that the order was "effective immediately."

This means, he told the boards, that even men scheduled for induction Monday who are over 26 and who came within the new classifications will not be inducted pending further instructions.

No distinction is made between fathers and non-fathers in the national order, Col. McDermott said.

Moreover, he added, "it is not required that they be 'necessary men' or engaged in activities listed as 'essential' or in occupations listed as 'critical.'"

Although inductions of men over 26 will stop, McDermott said, "it is not considered advisable" at the present time to postpone pre-induction physical examinations for this age group.

Kohima Claimed By Nips

...60 Miles From Imphal

LONDON, April 8—(AP)—A Japanese communique reported today by Reuters claimed that Japanese invasion troops in India had captured Kohima, 60 miles north of Imphal, carrying them closer to the allied Bengal-Assam railway.

Reuters said the communique announced that Kohima had fallen Thursday morning.

There was no immediate allied confirmation of the Japanese claim, but the fall of Kohima, 40 miles inside India, would mean complete severance of the Manipur road linking Imphal, with the railhead to the north.

Palau Victory Tempered.

(By the Associated Press.)

Revelation that American forces had, figuratively speaking, given the Japanese a resounding kick in the pants by raiding the Palau area of the Carolines for three days was tempered somewhat today by Japanese claims of victory in India and a British admission of continued Japanese pressure.

A Nipponese communique reported in London by Reuters claimed the Japanese had captured Kohima, 60 miles north of

State Board Gets Instructions For Induction Speed-up

Instructions from Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey to speed up induction of young men and slow down on induction of men over 26 were received Saturday by Nebraska selective service headquarters.

Lt. Col. H. R. "Hobb" Turner, assistant state director, said he did not interpret the message to mean that the induction of all men over 26 is to be halted.

"This instruction," he said, "merely means that we are to speed up the processing of men under 26 and slow down on the induction of men over 26 until we are sure that all available men under 26 have been processed for induction. After that, it is possible the induction rate of men over 26 will return to normal."

General Hershey's message reminded all state directors of their authority to postpone inductions, and suggested that this authority be exercised in considering cases of men over 26 engaged in essential agriculture, war production or activities supporting the war effort.

Her Lost Points

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 8—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Martin had a fire in her home—it did no damage—but that wasn't what bothered her.

"My ham burned to a crisp in the oven," she told firemen. "And it took the very last of my ration points!"

Japanese Good 'Night Fighters' Says Veteran Of Gilbert Battle

After three years in the Pacific theater, Capt. R. L. Buttery, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Buttery, 2235 Ryons street, is home on a 15-day leave. "Except that nothing much is going on, it's good to be back in Lincoln," was his laconic comment in a Star interview.

Capt. Buttery

Capt. Buttery has just returned from the Gilbert islands. "Censorship down there," he said, "is really something. People may think they have censorship here, but the censors in the Pacific will hardly let you say more than hello."

Many moving pictures shown in the Gilbert islands last from two to three hours, he recalled, because the feature is constantly being interrupted by Jap bombing raids. "We sat through a Gene Autry western at one time for six hours." The showing was hindered by bombings, a sudden rainstorm, and also because the projection machine broke down and had to be repaired.

In Pearl Harbor Attack.

The captain has been in three major campaigns, and was stationed at Hickam Field, Honolulu, when Pearl Harbor was attacked. His outfit, the 804th aviation engineers, constructed the original airfield at Canton, China.

"The Japs are good night fighters," Capt. Buttery said, "better at night time and while fighting alone than during the day." The favorite Jap taunt to our men is "Hey, Joe, come over here," he continued.

Capt. Buttery will join his outfit in the Hawaiian islands shortly. He is a graduate of the engineering college of the University of Nebraska, and was sent to Ft. Ord, Calif., for overseas training.

Capt. Gentile Bags 3 More

LONDON, April 8—(INS)—Capt. Don S. Gentile, fighter pilot with the Eight U. S. air force in Britain, shot down three more German planes today, raising his individual score to 30 and strengthening his claim as the leading American ace of World War II.

Gentile bagged the three nazis during the day's routine operations over the continent.

The Piqua, O., flier is credited with destroying 23 German planes in the air and seven on the ground.

Australia Reducing Its Army

. . . By 90,000 Men

CANBERRA, Australia, April 8—(AP)—Francis E. Forde, army minister, announced today that the Australian army would be reduced by 90,000 men within the next 12 months.

The releases, he said in a statement, will include 20,000 men for industry. He indicated this reduction rate would be continued.

"In considering the manpower problem," the minister said, "The government decided there was no alternative, but to reduce the establishment of the military forces by restricting considerably the monthly intake and to provide for accelerated discharges from the army in addition to regular discharges because of unfitness and other causes."

'Commando' Kelly Is Coming Home

WITH FIFTH ARMY, Italy, April 8—(AP)—Tech. Sgt. Charles E. (Commando) Kelly, the first enlisted soldier in this war to receive the congressional medal of honor, is going home, it was learned today.

The man who was decorated by Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark for his "one man blitzkrieg," in which he single-handedly destroyed about 40 Germans between Salerno and the Rapido river, is being returned under the army's rotation policy and will leave immediately.

Kelly, who lives in Pittsburgh, received the news of his return almost simultaneously with word that his mother, deaf, and her sight failing fast, had appealed to President Roosevelt to allow her hero son to come home to visit her for a few days.

No Early Change In British Government

Van Required To Take Zephyr Cake To Depot

While bakers and mechanics labored today putting the finishing touches on the giant six-foot cake and eight-foot stainless steel knife that will feature the Pioneer Zephyr's tenth birthday party at the Burlington station Monday morning, Lincoln chamber of commerce officials worried how to handle the overflow crowd that desires to attend the public affairs luncheon at the Hotel Cornhusker following the trackside ceremonies.

Rumors that the cake is too big to remove from the bakery without tearing out a wall were denied by Donald Ashton, executive assistant of the Burlington, and the Wendelin Baking company. Ashton did state, however, that a moving van would be required to transport the cake from the bakery to the station. Token pieces of the cake will go to streamline descendants of the Zephyr and the balance will go to children and service men in Lincoln hospitals.

Distinguished Guests.

Four men of national distinction will be in Lincoln Monday for the ceremonies celebrating the tenth anniversary of America's first Diesel-powered streamline train—Charles F. Kettering, vice president and inventive genius of General Motors; Edward G. Budd, builder of stainless steel trains; Charles Gates Dawes, former vice-president of the United States and former ambassador to the court of St. James, and Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington Lines.

The general public is invited to the trackside ceremonies at the Burlington station beginning at 10:30 Monday morning at which the Pioneer Zephyr will cut its own monster birthday cake and participate in a nationwide broadcast over 178 stations of the Blue Network.

All of the 500 tickets for the Chamber of Commerce public affairs luncheon have been sold, but there will space in the balcony at the Hotel Cornhusker for several hundred others who wish to hear Messrs. Ralph Budd, Edward G. Budd and Kettering discuss "The Past, Present and Future of Streamline Transportation." General Dawes, Governor Griswold and Mayor Marti also will speak and President Walter White of the chamber will be toastmaster.

28 Japanese Ships Sunk

18 Other Nipponese Vessels, Including Battleship, Damaged; 160 Jap Planes Are Destroyed; 25 Warplanes Only U. S. Loss

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS—Pearl Harbor, April 8—(AP)—Navy officials were jubilant today over official reports that American warships dominated waters 600 miles from the Philippines for three days while hundreds of planes based on aircraft carriers sowed destruction in the Carolines more than 1,000 miles west of Truk.

Not one warship was damaged and only 25 planes were lost as the price for sinking 28 enemy ships, damaging 18, including a battleship, definitely destroying 160 Nipponese planes, probably wrecking 74 more, and strewing ruin at Palau, Yap, Ulithi and Woleai.

American personnel losses totalled 18 airmen.

This feat of not losing a warship matched the task force performances Feb. 16-17 at Truk where 23 enemy ships were sunk, six probably sunk and 201 planes destroyed, and Feb. 22 in the Marianas where tow enemy ships were sunk, nine damaged and 135 planes wiped out.

Blasted For Two Days

Palau, long fortified Japanese naval base 530 miles east of the Philippines and 4,595 miles from Pearl Harbor, was overwhelmed and powerfully blasted for two days. Large warships deserted the stronghold, forewarned by search planes, before the American armada could reach attack positions March 29, but on the night of the 28th a fleeing Japanese battleship was torpedoed and severely damaged by a submarine which slipped past screening destroyers.

Then throughout March 29 and 30 Palau was pounded by hundreds of carrier planes.

At least 93 and probably 122 Nipponese interceptors went down in flames trying to stem these attacks. From 39 to 59 more were wrecked aground or in the water.

Warehouses Wrecked

A communique of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announcing the results said that 25 enemy ships were sunk at Palau, including two destroyers, an unidentified combat ship, 16 cargo vessels, five oilers

COUNCIL FAVORS "OVER-ALL" CITY RETIREMENT PLAN

At a special meeting Friday afternoon the city council went "on record as favoring the adoption of proposal No. 1, authorizing a retirement system for city employes," and urged the voters of Lincoln to vote "for" that proposition on April 11.

The resolution was signed by Mayor Lloyd Marti, and Councilmen L. H. "Buster" deBrown, A. J. Weaver, jr., and Lester L. Dunn. Rees Wilkinson, who attended the meeting did not vote. Councilmen Stanley Maly and Virgil Kitrell were out of the city.

Councilman Maly had returned Saturday, and during the morning said that although the resolution did not "go far enough" he will sign it. Maly repeated his statement of a week ago to the council that it should approve No. 1 and at the same time opopse the proposal submitted for pensions only to the police department, because in his opinion, the latter will eventually bankrupt the city, unless it is repudiated.

Council Plan Hikes Levy By $20,000

...Each of Next 20 Years

Tabulations completed by officials of the City Employes association, and corroborated by Finance Director Theo Berg, Saturday revealed that under the provisions of the council's retirement pension proposal for city employes, including the policemen, but excluding the firemen who already are being pensioned, will increase the levy for 1943-44, $20,000 annually for 20 years. On a total valuation of $94,392,610 that will increase the appropriation of $981,683.14 for the present year to $1,001,683, annually.

On that basis the increased cost of the proposition to the property owner will be 20 cents per $1,000, or 80 cents on a home valued for assessment purposes at $4,000.

Figures Variable.

To a certain extent these figures are variable, depending upon changes in total valuations, and may run less than $20,000 a year, or perhaps a little more, but not much.

The data obtained revealed that during the same 20 years the city appropriates $20,000, the employes, not including the firemen will make donations of $23,000, and the water and light departments, $14,000, no tax being charged those employes, they being in self-sustaining units of the government.

These figures are all averages, and for the first year will total $57,000 in contributions. For each five years thereafter the aggregates will be:

Five years	$ 8,200
Ten years	15,000
Fifteen years	19,900
Twenty years	18,000

Invest Balances

Continuing the compilations, it has been found that after the payment of all pensions arising during each year, there will be a balance annually after all contributions are paid, amounting to $355,500 at the end of 20 years. The proposal contemplates that these balances be invested at interest. If the rate is as low as 1½ per cent, it is pointed out, the accruals will amount to $81,380, increasing the total balances at the end of 20 years, to $436,880.

The balances for the 20 years follow:

First	$33,000	Eleventh	$21,500
Second	31,500	Twelfth	16,000
Third	31,000	Thirteenth	14,500
Fourth	30,000	Fourteenth	10,000
Fifth	28,000	Fifteenth	7,500
Sixth	26,500	Sixteenth	7,000
Seventh	21,500	Seventeenth	4,000
Eighth	19,000	Eighteenth	6,500
Ninth	16,500	Nineteenth	3,500
Tenth	25,500	Twentieth	3,000

Not only will these balances be on hand at the end of each of the 20 years, but all persons eligible to a retirement pay will be receiving and will receive it through his or her life tenure as shown by the American tables of life expectancy, it was pointed out.

Nazis Fleeing From Odessa

. . . Soviets Only 10 Miles From Black Sea Goal

LONDON, April 8—(AP)—Triumphant Russian columns have rolled up before Tatar pass in the Carpathians on the Hungarian-occupied border of Czechoslovakia and have forced the Prut river north of Iasi on a front up to 106 miles in Rumania, Moscow announcements said tonight.

Marshal Joseph Stalin in two orders of the day broadcast from the Russian capital said the soviet forces had swept up to the Czechoslovak-Rumanian border on a 124-mile front in the Carpathians, and advanced westward in Rumania across the Prut on a 106-mile front—a total front of 230 miles.

"Our state frontiers" have been reached, he said, in announcing the advance in the Carpathians, the same language used to describe the attaining of Rumania's eastern border at the Prut several days ago.

(By the Associated Press.)

Drive Nazis Westward

Russian troops have driven to the old Czechoslovak frontier and seized more than 30 towns in Rumania along a front of 124 miles, Premier-Marshal Stalin announced triumphantly today.

"Troops of the first Ukrainian front, having inflicted a defeat on the enemy at the foothills of the Carpathians, have reached our state frontier with Czechoslovakia and Rumania," he declared, ordering a salute of 24 salvoes from 324 guns to mark the victory. The Germans are in retreat.

While the westward lunge drove the Germans still farther back, the siege tightened on Odessa, and Moscow said the nazis and Rumanians were fleeing that Black sea port they won at such high cost in 1941.

Thousands Slain

The northeastern wing of a soviet arc was less than 10 miles from Odessa. To the west, other red army men were hammering down the left bank of the Dniester estuary, and were 13 miles from Ovidiopol, ferry terminus on the last rail escape route from the besieged city.

Survivors of five or six nazi divisions were trapped above Razdelnaya, 45 miles northwest of Odessa, and 5,000 already have been killed, Moscow declared. Another 4,000 Germans were reported killed in vain attempts to

Huge Fleets Of American Heavies Hit Plane Factories

LONDON, April 8—(AP)—Great fleets of American heavy bombers and fighters thundered back into Germany today, blasting the aircraft industries of Brunswick and airdromes in the northwest and provoking the German air force into the first major air battle this month.

U. S. headquarters announced the successful blows shortly after the Berlin radio, apparently seeking to make the raid appear a major German victory, had boasted that Hitler's defenses had beaten off an attempted assault on the German capital.

The American announcement disclosed, however, that the larger portion of 500 to 750 Flying Fortresses and Liberators involved in the aerial invasion had slammed their explosives into sprawling Brunswick, 110 miles west of Berlin while other bombers escorted by hundreds of fighters were aiming crippling blows at nazi air nests.

Judge Wilson, Nebraska City, Dies Suddenly

NEBRASKA CITY, April 8—(AP)—District Judge Wilmer W. Wilson, 72, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at his home Saturday. He had been in the hospital since March 17, but was believed recovering and had returned home only yesterday.

JUDGE W. W. WILSON

Judge Wilson, a native of Otoe county, was a member of the University of Nebraska varsity football team before the turn of the century. He received his law degree from the university in 1896.

He was appointed second judicial district judge in 1937 by former Governor Cochran, and later was re-elected. He was a candidate for re-election in the April primary Tuesday, and his name will appear on the ballot. Also on the ballot for that office is J. L. Mattox of Nebraska City.

Surviving are his widow, two sons, Allen and Wilmer, and a daughter, Mrs. Robert A. Wiley. Funeral arrangements are unannounced, pending word from Wilmer, who is in the army at Camp Roberts, Calif.

Judge Wilson began his law practice in Nebraska City in 1896, had served as county attorney, county judge, and city attorney. He was a judge on the Supreme court commission from 1925-31, and served as president of the Nebraska State Bar association and state association of district judges.

Brothers and sisters surviving are Dr. James S. Wilson, Johnson, Neb.; Dr. M. L. Wilson, Falls City; Mrs. J. W. Crabtree, Washington, D. C.; Miss Della Wilson, Nebraska City; Andrew J. Wilson, Nebraska City.

Judge Wilson was the father of Allan Wilson, 3784 Randolph street, who is attorney for the rent control division of the OPA.

Willkie Is Silent On His Plans

GOP PARTY LEADERS DOING SOME WORRYING

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, who was accused by some of his republican critics of "talking too much," may give his worried party colleagues the silent treatment for a while.

Aides said today that Willkie probably will go to Rushville, Ind., soon for a rest. While none of them professed to speak for the retired presidential candidate, they said they would be surprised if he makes known his future plans within the next few weeks.

Willkie's abrupt withdrawal from the presidential race without any hint as to his future party course has left republican officials wondering if he will support the convention's nominee. They fear his refusal to go along might be felt in the strata of independent voters to whom Willkie made his strongest appeals.

He had nothing whatever to say on that subject when he returned to New York yesterday.

While there has been conjecture that the 1940 nominee might jump the fence and return to the democratic party, Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) said he thought it would be logical to expect Willkie to continue the course he set in his 13-day Wisconsin campaign—pointing out what he considers party faults and working to correct them.

—SUPREME COURT—

WOW Case Rehearing Is Sought

. . . By Peterson

C. Petrus Peterson appeared in Supreme court Saturday as a newly employed counsel to present reasons for rehearing the four to three decision of the judges that contract of Woodmen of the World society directors with radio station WOW, Inc., for a 15-year-lease on station WOW was constructive fraud through inadequacy of compensation.

Attorneys Rainey T. Wells, general counsel of the Woodmen of the World, Omaha, Cline Williams and Wright, Lincoln, Raymond Crossman, and Paul Massey, of Omaha, the latter representing the lessee station, sat aside while the Lincoln attorney contended against arguments of Donald W. Stewart that the high court reached its decision on a false premise.

Court 'Overlooked' Facts.

As to the holding of the Supreme court that the rental fixed for the station was grossly insufficient, Peterson argued that the court overlooked the possible compensation for such a lease before the directors when they made it, the threat of high taxation by the government in event they retained the station and conflict of jurisdiction over the station in relation to the federal communications commission.

Society directors at the outside, had a chance to make a direct sale of the station for $850,000, Peterson said, with this amount problematical. He challenged the court to compare the rental fixed with the returns from such a problematical amount or the more likely offer around $650,000 as revealed in the record. Peterson said the court acted on an "assumed disproportion of income." He enlarged on the threat to the society in retaining management of the radio station because of its principal business as a fraternal insurance association.

Stewart Answers Charge.

Attorney Stewart for Dr. Homer H. Johnson, plaintiff in the suit, contended that all matters brought out by Peterson had been in the pleadings; that it had been conceded the FCC had no jurisdiction; that the principal objection to the lease had been on the basis of constructive fraud.

On the latter point, Stewart contended any violation of duty by director was constructive fraud which the court in its decision found existed.

"The society still owns the station," Stewart said, so the matter of taxation is not all important.

Judge Messmore asked Stewart if it were not true that inadequacy of compensation had been the principal reason advanced against the lease. In the main, Stewart said this was true, but he asserted jurisdiction had not been challenged.

Other Motion Heard.

Other motions for rehearing heard by Judges Messmore, Chappell and Carter Saturday included the controversy over damages for a high voltage transmission line of the Loup River Public Power district over property of J. F. Langdon of Omaha that has been already in Supreme court twice; the controversy of Gwendolyn George against the Guarantee Mutual Life company involving statements in an application for a life policy by her husband, which the court held invalidated them; the Custer county suit between Ray Cantrell & Son and Claris Owen, in which Owen was cleared of fraud in sale of stock said to have been infected with Bangs' disease; Dr. Myron Johnson's suit in Lancaster county against Mrs. Hazel A. Batten, involving comparative negligence in an automobile crash; William Maher's appeal from a two-year sentence for fourth degree arson in which Eugene D. O'Sullivan, his attorney, asserted his constitutional rights had been violated; and the suit of the Dundee Realty company of Omaha, which unsuccessfully attacked an Omaha zoning ordinance that prevented commercial building on West Dodge street in the vicinity of the University of Omaha.

Pussy Takes Tour Of State Capitol; Misses Governor

A cat may look at a king—and certainly at a governor. At least, that seems to have been the theory of the cat which wandered into the state capitol Saturday morning.

A short visit to the department of health on first floor—no doubt to ask the way to the governor's suite—preceded the pussy's sightseeing tour on second floor.

Puss changed her mind about seeing the governor and started on a race to the legislative hall. A helpful boy picked her up and gave her safe conduct in the elevator up to the board of control's office on the eighth floor—he had no doubt misunderstood her request to visit the ninth floor offices of the game and fish commission.

The board of control was evidently a disappointment, for after a short stay the cat was returned to the lawn outside the building.

Good Night, Sweet Prince

The Life & Times of John Barrymore —based on the new best seller

BY GENE FOWLER

Illustrations By James Montgomery Flagg

Jack leaned tiredly against the wall . . .

"What did you say, Jake?" Lionel asked.

Good Night, Sweet Prince—Hamlet, Act V, Scene II.

ON MAY 19, 1942, Jack Barrymore left his cobwebbed, almost bare "estate" to go to the rehearsal of his weekly radio broadcast. He had had a bad head cold since March. He was coughing at the studio but pronounced himself "fit," and had not been drinking for several days.

After the rehearsal, Jack left for his dressing room but could not find it. He leaned tiredly against the wall while studio sightseers watched and shook their heads. He entered the first door that yielded to his hand.

It was the room of Actor John Carradine, a friend. Carradine found Jack collapsed on the couch. Jack was rushed to the hospital with pneumonia.

Jack was 60 years old. Doctors had estimated that in his years of drinking he had consumed 640 barrels of "hard stuff." Had he not so abused himself, they agreed, it was likely he would have lived to be one hundred and ten!

Barrymore amazed physicians by living through the night of the 19th. Lionel, other friends and I were at the bedside. Reporters set up a death watch.

Jack clung to life. Several days later, he roused while a pretty nurse was combing his hair. He said he would recite a poem dedicated to all women. He got as far as "Oh, woman, beautiful beyond . . ." and became unconscious.

His breathing was like the sound of a cloth being slowly torn. When one of Jack's old friends, Father John O'Donnell, called, Jack received last rites of the Catholic church.

Seven days passed and Jack lived on. When a nurse gave him mouthwash, he promptly swallowed it. She was advised never to give Jack anything in a small glass that wasn't safe internally. Often, while he slept, he would murmur, "Mum, Mum," the name for his grandmother.

On the tenth day, Jack roused himself to say something to his brother. Lionel asked him, "What did you say, Jake?"

"You heard me, Mike," Jack replied; and, so far as I know, those were his last words to anyone.

At nine o'clock on the night of May 29, 1942, an artist friend, John Decker, made a sketch of Jack. Then, at 10:20, Jack's breathing no longer could be heard.

Ethel Barrymore wrote:

"I am feeling—as I am sure you know—laid low. So many memories of my little brother—so long ago—when we were all so young, and knew and expected so little—and it didn't matter."

Good Night, Sweet Prince.

Moves To Amend Disbarment Charge

Assistant Attorney General John H. Comstock filed motion in Supreme court Saturday asking leave to amend the complaint against Attorney Hubert Price of Cozad, recently cleared on disbarment proceedings by the high court. He seeks to include specific charges of acts allegedly violating professional conduct, since the court held that under the complaint there were insufficient charges of such matters to warrant an order of disbarment.

Letters by Price mailed to the National Mutual Casualty company and to the Farm Bureau Mutual Automobile Insurance company signed by Price in which offers were made to interpose in pending claims are set forth.

According to Comstock, there is a statute permitting amendment of a petition of this type after a decision has been handed down.

Seward Man Fined On State Charge

Miloslav Hladky of Seward was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail by Municipal Judge Edward Fisher in court Friday on a state complaint of trying to obtain a driver's license fraudulently.

Hladky's license had been revoked in the Saunders county justice court in July, 1943. He then applied for a license in Lancaster county.

Judge Fisher in giving the sentence warned that many people are doing the same thing and added that suspension or revocation of a license is the most effective way of dealing with them.

Expense of Heating Capitol and Mansion Is Cut Over 13 Pct.

Gov. Griswold today said that the gallonage of steam used in the state capitol building and the mansion in the year ended April 1 was 29,790,000 gallons as compared with 34,420,000 gallons for the previous year, a reduction of 13½ per cent.

The steam comes from the University of Nebraska plant the governor said the decrease was due to a winter campaign to keep temperatures lower and a mild winter.

As the university found it necessary to increase the charge by 25 per cent, Griswold said the state would have paid $1,852 additional if as much gallonage had been used in the year ending April 1 as in the previous year. With the reduction, costs were about the same, he added.

Beynon Predicts Many Will Write In Dewey's Name

Nebraska Republican National Committeeman Ira D. Beynon said today it was his understanding that "the Dewey people do not wish any organized write-in campaign" for the New York governor in the Nebraska party presidential preferential but that no doubt many would write in Dewey's name on the ballot.

"In the light of the present situation former Governor Stassen of Minnesota is the only avowed candidate and undoubtedly will carry the state. It is unfortunate that all the presidential candidates are not on the ballot.

"It seems to me the important thing is for the people to select delegates they have confidence in, and who will vote for the best interests of Nebraska and the nation as the situation develops at the convention," Beynon said.

Situation Changing

He commented the situation is changing day by day and the Dewey movement seems to be rapidly gathering power with Dewey in the position where he "doesn't have to do anything and isn't doing anything."

H. H. (Hi) Kendell of Lincoln, only announced Dewey delegate on the delegate ticket, said it was too late for any organized Dewey write-in campaign, but that Dewey would, in his opinion, get a good many write-in votes, although the total probably would be "nothing big."

Kendell added that be believed Wendell Willkie, who withdrew from the presidential race, would get a goodly number of votes in "respect for his action in withdrawing and as a way of expressing confidence."

There is considerable sentiment around the state, Kendell said for a Dewey-Warren ticket in November. Warren is governor of California. Kendell is running in the first congressional district.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Taylor announce the marriage of their daughter, Phyllis Ann, to Russell James Kendle, torpedoman 3/c, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Kendle. The service was solemnized on Sunday afternoon March 19, at 5 o'clock at the First United Presbyterian church in the presence of 150 guests.

The Rev. Harold Irwin read the lines of the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Ted Spahnee played the organ and Miss Janet Dalrymple sang "Oh, Promise Me," and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

Miss Lake wore a yellow net gown and carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Kendle appeared in champaign net and carried talisman roses. Mrs. Neil Terhune in light blue, carrying pink roses, preceded the bride as matron of honor.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white brocaded satin for her wedding, styled with a sweetheart neckline, closely fitted bodice and full skirt ending in a short train. A coronet of seed pearls held her finger tip bridal veil in place. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses, gardenias and swansonia.

Harlan Kendle was best man and James Kithcart, Dean and Dick Taylor served as ushers.

A reception was held in the church parlors with Miss Mildred Lipps and Miss Betty Eberline at the refreshment table. Miss Patsy Prewitt and Miss Francis Wright had charge of the guest book, and Mrs. Prewitt received in the gift room.

Copy Of Soldier Vote Bill Mailed To County Clerks

Secretary of State Frank Marsh Saturday sent to county clerks in the state copy of the soldier vote bill in final reading form before the legislature to reveal new and stricken matter. He gave them the high points of change over the present voting system.

The law becomes effective July 6, of this year, thus avoiding the present primary but effective for the November election. Special attention is drawn in the secretary's letter to the following changes in present law:

Filings will close 60 days before election.
Absent voter's ballots are to be ready 40 days before election.
Request for absent ballot is simplified.
Registration is accomplished by mail.
Light weight paper and smaller type are authorized.
One ballot to each absent voter is to have printed instructions on the back. (I will prepare these as to form in order to have uniformity, and you will have the form as soon as possible.)
Identification envelope combined with return envelope, eliminating one envelope.
Ballots will have 23 days after election for return, making a 63 day period for going and coming.

Saturday, Sunday

Not Gay From A Society Standpoint

SINCE the Easter week-end always is more or less of a family affair, it is not too surprising that there is little other activity for Saturday and Sunday. However, there is much to be anticipated in the week to come, the arrival of Major and Mrs. Faulkner tomorrow—and the news of more guests who are to come for next week.

Today, however, a guest who arrived last Wednesday takes the role of a luncheon honoree—At the University club today Miss Wilma Fraser entertained at a foursome luncheon as a courtesy to her sister, Miss Dorothy Fraser who is home from Grinnell college, Grinnell, Ia., for the Easter holiday. Following the luncheon the afternoon was spent with bridge at the club.

And speaking of guests—Miss Patty Van Patton of Chicago was in Lincoln recently for a visit with old friends.

Pi Beta Phi mothers will hold their annual meeting and election of officers next Friday at the chapter house. Following the business meeting the members of the group will be tea guests of Mrs. Walter Shaffer, Pi Beta Phi house mother.

SPANGLER'S JOB NOT YET FINISHED

On the home front, events of the week matched the explosiveness of the battlefields. Wendell Willkie went to the wars in Wisconsin and ended up a casualty. He took himself out of the republican picture. Among all the explanations supplied for Willkie's disaster, one of great significance has been overlooked largely. The name is Spangler—Harrison E. Spangler, an Iowan.

The Long Trail

If anyone has forgotten, Mr. Spangler is chairman of the republican national committee. A slightly stout man of considerable vocal powers, Mr. Spangler confesses he started out in 1932 when his idol, Herbert Hoover, was swamped to sink the New Deal. He wound up in Wisconsin last Tuesday clutching victory with both hands. Mr. Spangler did not cast the votes; took no active part, at least outwardly; but the happiest man in the world along towards Wednesday's dawn was Chairman Spangler. He hadn't sunk the New Deal, but the one republican candidate who had granted that some change was necessary in the American order was down for the count. And what more could Mr. Spangler ask?

Not Even A Trace

With one fell swoop, Chairman Spangler was rid of anything that even resembled a sympathetic observer of developments here in the United States in the last 12 years. Outwardly, at least, the republican national committee and its officers were neutral. What went on inside remains to be disclosed on another and a more propitious day. There was a remarkable meeting of minds among the organization leaders or the party hacks. With an amazing degree of unanimity, they settled in Wisconsin for a man who had insisted that the delegates representing him withdraw. They settled for a man who has said repeatedly he is not a candidate and who has not discussed a single issue. That kind of unity in the winning of another and a different war certainly would startle the world.

Piece By Piece

What is it that Mr. Spangler dislikes? Is it the president as an individual? Or is it the changes for which the president has been responsible? There is the matter of the regulation of the New York Stock Exchange and the Federal Securities act. Would Mr. Spangler wipe them out? He hasn't indicated. Some of those who share his views stutter and stammer when the question is popped directly at them. They say they would not exactly wipe them out, but they would modify them. There is the matter of the Federal Bank Deposit Insurance law. It is a New Deal measure. Would Mr. Spangler do away with it? Then there are vast public power developments in America. They are lock, stock and barrel of New Deal vintage. Under the doctrine of "free enterprise," is it Mr. Spangler's intention to uproot them and turn them back to private hands. The catechism is a long one. The answers will not be forthcoming. The campaign is one, fitting the public mood, that calls for quiet and rest and especially quiet.

Not A Word, Sonny

The people must not be disturbed. That was Mr. Willkie's mistake. Instead of interrupting the people's quiet and rest, Mr. Willkie persisted in referring to disturbing matters. He himself was awake and alive and in social spirit; he wanted to awaken others. Now there are two ways in which to repeal national policies. One is to do it openly and above-board. The other is to do it quietly and restfully. The latter involves relaxing the administration of the laws involving these national policies—letting them die on the vine, so as to speak. This is so simple and in certain eras of American history it has been so commonly accepted. It is a little bit like the old game in which the spieler shouts: "Now you see it; and now you don't."

Harvest of Discontent

The basis of republican hopes is no military secret. It rests upon the fact that war is harsh, exhausting and irritating. Every individual discontented with the draft can be looked upon as a potential recruit. Every citizen smarting under OPA can be viewed as a prospective supporter. Every isolationist, hugging an old tradition to his breast, can be transformed into a raging, snorting water-carrier for the thirsty elephant. Every harassed taxpayer, digging deeper and deeper, offers a tempting target. And to woo and win, what is necessary? Say nothing that is disturbing. Talk sweetly. Indulge in banalities. And, most of all, wave the flag. The pattern is taking clear lines and all that remains is some expert polishing. And then a work of art will be finished.

Willkie's Frustration

In Minneapolis, just before setting out for Nebraska, Mr. Willkie said "he was fed up." It was the tipoff. For 13 days he had been hitting at an invisible opponent. He would lead with his right, and then counter with his left, but always he was just a little bit short of the mark, and the man that he was fighting was out of range, dancing away and saying nothing. He knew that his opponent was there but he could not see him, hear him or feel him. He was out there slugging against a phantom being.

Not Yet Convinced

One observer in the mid-west contributed the statement that there is a large element who do not feel this is America's war. They are not disloyal to this country. They are not traitors. They are honest in their belief it was unnecessary for the United States to take part. They honestly think Uncle Sam could have stayed out. They have no explanation for Pearl Harbor. They make no attempt to account for any American policy which could follow Pearl Harbor. If Pearl Harbor ever enters their thinking, they write it down as the natural and inevitable consequence of meddling in Far Eastern affairs. They feel Uncle Sam could have watched the Japs eat up China, the island groups of the southwest Pacific, other sections of the Asiatic mainland, and the Japs never would have ventured nearer the American mainland.

They feel the same thing about Hitler and Mussolini. They grudgingly admit the axis might have established their dominance in Europe, Asia and Africa, and then brush it off with the question: "What of it?" America was safe and secure. America is not a part of the world. Call it isolation or any other name. It gets down to the fact in the end that they think the war was unnecessary. And because they feel that way, any concession is acceptable that will bring it to a quick close.

Not A Republican

Back to this country at the week's end came an Ohio congressman, a republican. He bore a strange message. He told reporters that after seeing the fighting in Africa and Italy, he could not even think of politics. What he saw over there knocked all political thought into a cocked hat. That is right to the point. Isolation exists where the war is remote. Isolation and politics are remote where the war is near at hand.

And a distinguished American hero, just back from the southwest Pacific, voiced the same thought. "I cannot say that I understand the home front," he told reporters. He was not referring to any individual or to any political party. He was talking about the detached and removed atmosphere of people living thousands of miles from the regions where fighting is in progress. And that is disturbing. It is contrary to the public mood of rest and quiet.

Wendell Willkie had been to the wars and he came home attempting to bring a small portion of them back to his own people. It was Mr. Willkie's mistake at this hour, but it will be to his everlasting credit in the years ahead. The men in the republican party who now scoff at him, when they are not begging him to help them, will choke up when his name is mentioned.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Looking for a Home.

Youth looks ahead; age looks behind.
Youth visions sees where age is blind.
—Old Mother Nature.

Two young Muskrats, the Jerry Muskrat Juniors, had left the floodwaters of the swamp above the Smiling Pool and started up Laughing Brook. It would have been easier to have gone down, but that would have been back to the Smiling Pool, and Jerry, Jr., had no wish to go back there, especially since finding his pretty mate. They wanted to be by themselves, and as she wanted to do what he wanted to do, and he wanted to do what she wanted to do, and both wanted to see where the water came from, they started up Laughing Brook instead of down.

It was fun. Where the water was too swift for swimming they went along the banks. Sometimes they ran. Sometimes they crept, poking their noses into every hole they came to. They spent a lot of time hunting for food. So early in the spring food was not easy to find here in the Green Forest. When they were tired they curled up together in holes in the banks or under the roots of trees close to the water. And so they came to the new pond of Slaptail the Beaver.

They spent a lot of time hunting for food

At first they were afraid of the Slaptails, but finding there was no need to be they made themselves at home in the pond. They liked that pond. They liked the quiet water, for only through the middle where the bed of Laughing Brook lay was there much current. They were sure that it was the most wonderful place in all the Great World and they decided that that was where they would live. The Slaptails made them welcome.

But quiet water in which to swim and play isn't everything. There were no rushes or flags or cattails growing around that pond. It was too new. They could eat some bark, but they couldn't live on it the way the Beavers did. So after a few days they became uneasy. They didn't know why. They still liked that pond. They still thought it must be the most wonderful place in all the Great World, but they couldn't stay. They had a feeling that they must move on. The fact is they were looking for a home but didn't know it. They hadn't thought about settling down in a home of their own. They were just living from day to day, curious about the Great World, eager to see more of it. They had what is called the wanderlust. It was Mother Nature's way of getting them farther out into the places where no Muskrats were, but where they well might be.

So, looking for a home, but not knowing that this was what drove them on, they made their way up Laughing Brook. Just living from day to day they were happy in what each day brought to them, unaware they were making the future, for of what is done today is the morrow made.

And so at last they came to the old ponds of Paddy the Beaver and the meadow that had been a pond just above the other two. Once more they rejoiced in the quiet water, for only in the very middle of the two small ponds was there current. It was good to be able to swim without struggle, to float without being swept away. They explored every foot of the shore, and of the two dams that made the ponds, dams that Paddy the Beaver and Mrs. Paddy had built long ago.

They swam up the short stretch of brook to the big pool in the meadow where stood Paddy's old house. They found it was deserted and they moved in. They found wet, marshy places such as Muskrats and Herons love. They found flags and rushes and cattails beginning to grow. They found other water plants such as they liked. What had once been the bottom of Paddy's first pond was now green with fast-growing grasses and plants springing up in the rich soil.

All desire to wander farther left them. They had but one desire now—a home. They wanted to live here always. Right away they began to plan a house of their own. "I think we are going to love it here," said Mrs. Jerry, Jr.

"If you don't there is something wrong with you," said Mrs. Quack, who was swimming near, watching for a chance to slip unseen to her nest hidden in the weeds and grasses growing on the roof of Paddy's old house.

Blood Pressure Apt To Rise After 50.

A letter from Detroit says: "I would like to have your treatment for high blood pressure. I am 55 years old and tests show my blood pressure is 180. There seem to be scores of people troubled this way."

This is an appeal ad hominem, since he asks me for my treatment for high blood pressure and I am in about the same condition he is, I will give my treatment of myself.

I should preface it by saying, however, that I had another letter from a fellow who said: "The joke is on you. You turned me down for life insurance on account of high blood pressure in 1921 and I am still going strong." This is no news to me. I see a dozen men daily—on the golf links, rushing about the marts of trade—who had really high blood pressures—none of your little 180 stuff—and I turned them down for life insurance. And, let me see—how long ago was that? Well, I haven't examined for life insurance for at least twenty years. And they are still going strong.

I think the life insurance companies have softened up on their standards a good deal in the last few years.

I tried ot find out a few years ago just what was the incidence of high blood pressure in people over 50. How many out of a hundred at that age have a reading of over 150? I wrote to a number of the largest life insurance companies and they didn't know. One or two offered to look it up for me and finally said their figures indicated about 15 per cent, but since they rejected all applicants with a pressure over 150, they were not certain that figure was right.

So I asked a number of physicians to give me the blood pressure readings consecutively on a hundred of their patients over 50 years of age, no matter what disease they had. The first report that came in showed 52 per cent had it, which surprised everybody. We thought it was inaccurate, but later reports were about the same. And let me emphasize that these physicians were not specialists in heart work or high blood pressure, so the cases were not selective. One was a nose and throat specialist and he found 66 per cent of his patients over 50 had a blood pressure over 150.

My first conclusion then is that more of us have it than don't have it. And we do pretty well with it.

I am not trying to minimize the seriousness of the sign. I am perfectly aware that it accompanies or is the cause of kidney disease, Bright's disease, and apoplexy, and heart disease and diabetes and a lot of other conditions. But:

A. The severe, crippling cases are in the minority. Most people never know they have it and die at an advanced age of something else.

B. With a few exceptions—such as angina pectoris and cramps in the legs—it is not painful.

C. Why worry about it because I never knew of any treatment, diet, drug, surgical operation which ever changed anybody's blood pressure for any length of time.

Now to get down to my method of treating my own case. I go to bed between 10 p. m. and 2 a. m. every night. I never get up until after I awaken. After dressing I go down to breakfast. I am very careful about my diet. I eat whatever they put before me, and I have been very careful that no one in my house has heard about blood pressure diets. Then I work about eight hours, punctuated by lunch, several cigars, and an hour's walk. Then I go home and sit down and smoke two or three cigars before dinner. Then I go to the movies or turn on the radio, or read and then go to bed. And I never let anyone take my blood pressure if I can help it or tell me what my blood pressure is.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

A. A. R.: Is a heart murmur curable? What are its signs and symptoms? Does it affect the life span of the individual?

Answer: There are about twenty kinds of heart murmurs—some curable, some not. The sign of a heart murmur is a heart murmur. Some murmurs shorten life, some do not.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

ESCAPE from PARIS

Chapter 12.

Since Johnny had watched Adrienne disappear from sight in the nave of the church, he had remained sitting in the same position. All about him worshipers rose from their knees and left the church. He wondered if Herr Schafer was at this moment occupying a seat in the rear, or if he had gone, leaving someone else to guard the entrances. He recalled seeing a man who appeared to be following him. Adrienne was constantly in his thoughts. He felt anxious lest she should become implicated in his attempt to escape. Suddenly a hand was laid on his shoulder.

He looked up and saw the friendly smile of a white haired elderly priest, who bent down and said quietly, "Come with me, Adrinne awaits you in my little office. You must not attempt to leave here at present."

When they had reached the passage leading to the sacristy, the priest turning to him said, "It seems the Gestapo agent is guarding the entrances. He must have seen you come in here."

"I had an idea I was being followed, but I didn't suppose once I was in the church the agent could have recognized me in that dim light."

"No, it is hardly likely." Father Andre scanned the younger man keenly. "These Gestapo agents are very clever. They have evidently had orders not to outrage the dignity of the Church in France unnecessarily; so they prefer to make arrests outside its precincts."

Before opening the door of his office, Father Andre paused, his eyes on his companion. "My son, Adrienne tells me that you care deeply for each other."

Johnny, taken by surprise, did not reply instantly. His eyes lighted up as they met those of the priest.

"I care for Adrienne more than I can say, Father."

"She is a marvellous girl, and in my opinion the man who gets her will be very fortunate. It is in your favor monsieur, that my dear friend, Pierre Dussault, thinks highly of you. Possibly I can perform the ceremony."

"Thank you, Father. Though Adrienne refuses to leave France at present, I feel it would be easier for us to part for a time if we belonged to each other."

As the priest entered with Johnny, Adrienne arose.

"Johnny, God has answered my prayer for your safety. This is my dear friend, Father Andre."

The priest shook Johnny's hand. "We have already become acquainted," he returned. "Adrienne," he said seriously, "Is it your wish that I should unite you and this man whom you love, in marriage?"

"Yes, if Johnny wishes it," she faltered.

Farrell caught her hand in his and drew her towards him.

"Then I will call Father Perrigard to assist me, and witness the signing of the register," Father Andre said.

"But the ring—I have no ring," exclaimed Johnny, as the thought struck him.

Father Andre arose and unlocked the drawer of a tiny cabinet on the wall, took from it a plain gold ring. "This will serve," he said handing the ring to Johnny.

Then he went out leaving them alone. Instantly he drew her into his arms.

"Sweetheart," he whispered, "it is wonderful to think that you will soon be mine, even if it will be only a short time before we are separated."

She clung to him a he kissed her.

"That crafty nazi thought it wiser to wait," he said, "but Father Andre will let me leave by a secret exit through the crypt. So we must hope for the best dear. By the way I present a sorry spectacle in this get up for a bridegroom," he added ruefully.

"That doesn't matter," Adrienne smiled. "I know how handsome you can look, my darling. Speaking of the secret exit, Father Andre can send a messenger before you leave to find Henri Boulanger and tell him to meet you at that entrance, so that you need not enter the market place. He is to take you for the night to a house on a side street opening off the Boulevard Sebastopol."

Afterwards it seemed to Adrienne that the ceremony had had a dreamlike unrealty. Mechanically she had made the necessary responses; and as if in a dream from which she must suddenly awaken, Johnny's voice, clear and strong, came to her, repeating, "I, John Farrel, take thee. . . .

The messenger who had been despatched by Father Andre to discover the whereabouts of the Gestapo agents, and to take the message to Henri Boulanger in stall 570, had returned. There was no sign of the agent in the vicinity at present, or of his man and Henri was waiting for Farrel on the corner near the secret entrance. There was no time to be lost.

Those moments before the final parting now seemed so inextricably interwoven with happiness and pain, that the confused pattern of them was not yet clear to her. She could only recall broken words and phrases, the tight clasp of Johnny's arms, the pressure of his lips on hers, his repeated warnings as to the danger she ran in remaining in Paris, and his urging her to make plans to escape as soon as possible.

He had torn a leaf from a small notebook and written an address that would reach him in England. She had promised to write by means of the underground postal service, and if possible to join him later.

She still sat immoveable in the little sanctum, too dazed to think. Then suddenly hearing footsteps in the outside passage, she sat up listening intently, the beat of her heart quickening.

The door opened, Father Andre came in again.

"There is nothing to worry about at present," he said smiling. "Monsieur Farrel was immediately joined by Henri Boulanger. My messenger who followed them for several blocks informs me they reached Henri's lodging house in safety."

A few minutes later she took leave of him, having requested him to make no mention of her marriage even to her uncle for the present.

While passing along the passage leading to the nave, she glanced down at the gold band on the third finger of her left hand, and with a pang drew it off, slipping it on the fine platinum chain that she wore about her neck, to which was attached a tiny silver cross. Only in this way could she keep her marriage secret.

Easter Shopping No Simple Task For Control Board

Easter shopping for the board of control is no simple process of going to a department store, trying on clothes, and coming away with a purchase.

With approximately 9,000 people, inmates of state institutions, to buy clothes for, shopping extends over a period of weeks, and the department store, so to speak, comes to the board.

Now after considering samples sent in by various supply firms, the board has completed its spring purchases. And on the list of items bought are such things as these: 50 dozen boy's wool stocking caps, 10 dozen bow neckties, 144 dozen pairs of women's felt slippers, 20 dozen diapers, several thousand yards of dress goods, and dozens and dozens of other items.

Among the other items are 14 dozen cards of bobbie pins—an item for which some girls, hopeless over the acute civilian shortage, might be tempted to try the institutions.

'Admiral' Carroll May Enter Navy As Apprentice Seaman

"Admiral" Hugo V. Carroll of Kearney has received word from his selective service board that he has been accepted for duty with the navy—as an apprentice seaman.

Word from his draft board came some time ago, though he will probably not leave his post as superintendent of the state hospital for tuberculosis at Kearney for several months. The rank of admiral is more recent, however; a meeting of the Nebraska Navy Friday night conferred the rank on him when he was made a member.

Roy A. Brown of Fairbury Killed In Rail Accident

PAPILLION, Neb., April 8—(AP)—Riding with three other men on a railroad motor car, Roy A. Brown, 40, of Fairbury, division engineer for the Rock Island railroad, was killed last night when the car was struck by a train on a curve about a mile north of Albright.

Wreckage of the motor car was strewn for about a quarter of a mile along the track and Brown's body was found about 200 feet from the point of impact, Sarpy County Coroner Guy Tate said. The other men were uninjured.

Tate said Brown, George Bobst, Lincoln, bridge and building foreman of the Fairbury division; H. R. Bobst, Fairbury, a workman, and N. F. Kinkade, Fairbury, carpenter foreman for the railroad, were returning to Omaha after work.

The men knew a special train was coming out of Council Bluffs, Ia, but thought they could make it to Omaha before the train went by, Tate said. As the motor car came around the curve, the men saw the train and jumped.

After the train passed and stopped a quarter-mile from the scene of the crash, Brown's body was found.

WAC Recruiter Is Greeted By Father Of So. Pac. Soldier

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., April 8—(AP)—Sgt. Ruth A. Collins of Ogdenburg, N. J., WAC recruiter here, said she was eating lunch at a Scottsbluff cafe when a gray-haired man wearing spectacles paused at her table, took off his hat, sat down opposite her and said:

"Pardon me, but I have a son in the southwest Pacific and I had a letter from him telling me to please tip my hat to every lady soldier I see because they were so very nice to him."

Sgt. Collins said she swallowed hard, but before she could ask any questions the man arose, put on his hat, paid his check and walked out of the restaurant.

BRAIN TWIZZLERS

By. Prof. J. D. Flint

High in the Swiss mountains worked a watch-maker whose work was marvelous. He was a very careful workman and the timepieces he turned out were sought after all by the jewelers of the world. This watch-maker was a great Brain Twizzler, believe it or not, and occasionally he conceived very subtle problems. He loved tricky wording and misleading terms and, as a result, he produced this problem which will baffle you if you don't examine your words carefully —One of the worker's best timepieces was started on time to the second. For five days the timepiece was not examined, then a minute gain was noticed. Another ten days passed and the same gain was noticed. This went on until the end of a month, thirty days, and then the timepiece was examined and found to be just thirty seconds too fast. What is the explanation?

Dewey Supporters Will Not Attempt Write-in Vote

OMAHA, April 8—(AP)—Gov. Thomas Dewey's supporters in Nebraska have indicated no last-minute attempt will be made to produce a large write-in vote for the New York governor in the state's presidential preferential primary next Tuesday.

Despite Wendell Willkie's announced withdrawal, his name and that of Lt. Commander Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, will appear on the ballot.

Sam McKelvie, former governor who heads a slate of convention delegate nominees pledged to Gov. Dwight Griswold as a "favorite son" said Willkie's announcement would not alter the plans of his group.

In Washington, republicans have said the Griswold delegates, if elected, would feel their efforts would be rewarded with a vice presidenial nomination and that the Griswold slate would lean towards Dewey.

The delegate slate submitted by John Quinn, manager of the Nebraska Stassen campaign, is pledged to support the winner in the preferential voting.

Increase Pressure On 4-Fs

FATHERS OVER 30 WILL BE GIVEN MORE CONSIDERATION; TIGHTEN DEFERMENT OF 26-30

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP) This is the manpower and draft picture as of today:

Age group 18 through 25—no job deferments unless endorsement as key man is obtained from state draft director or man is employed in farming, merchant marine or army transport corps.

Age group 26 through 29—job deferments will be granted only for "necessary men" in war production or war effort supporting work, this requirement to be "strictly applied."

Age group 30 and over—necessary-man requirement to be applied less strictly.

Fathers:

18-25 Group—No consideration as fathers.

26-29 Group—To be given some consideration over non-fathers, other deferment factors being equal.

30-and-over Group—Fathers to be given more liberal consideration.

May Draft 4-Fs.

4-Fs: Those not already employed in essential occupations warned by manpower commissioner McNutt, Draft Director Hershey and a house military subcommittee which has been considering work-draft legislation, to apply immediately for such essential work.

Today, following the appeals of the manpower and draft officials for 4-Fs to get into essential occupations, most local draft boards were in receipt of the latest selective service instructions on the drafting of available men, instructions dividing those of draft age into the three age brackets.

Although dependency as a test for deferment has long since yielded to job essentiality and age, the boards were told that prewar fathers 26 and over will normally be accorded job deferments in preference to non-fathers. In the case of men over 30, the boards were told to go easier. The armed services have made it clear in the past that in most cases, untrained older men are not wanted in the military.

McNutt and Hershey urged all 4-Fs who are in doubt about their employment to consult their local U. S. employment service office. They estimated that more than 2,000,000 of the 3,600,000 4-Fs are already in essential or locally-needed work.

It also was announced that the present list, including 35 general fields of activity important to the war effort, is to be used in determining which 4-Fs will be considered in essential work.

Former Sidney Mayor Named to Power Board

SIDNEY, Neb., April 8—(AP)—The Sidney city council last night accepted the resignation of R. E. Roche as mayor, and then approved his appointment as one of five members of a city power board.

Also named to the board by the new mayor, D. R. Thomas, were A. D. Greenlee, N. W. Ladegard, E. L. Uptegrove and Guy V. Doran. Thomas, senior member of the council, previously had been elected mayor and had been scheduled to take over the office when Dr. Roche's term expired.

The board, established under Nebraska statutes, will take charge of the Sidney power plant and properties if an election to be held April 18 on the issuance of $740,000 in bonds carries. The city plans to purchase the plant from Consumers Public Power district, City Attorney Pat Heaton said.

Heaton declared that Mayor Thomas will name the chairman of the newly organized board and also designate which men will serve one, two or three-year terms.

Signal Corps From Nine Commands May Reduce Personnel

OMAHA, April 8—(AP)—A new operating plan for the army signal corps, intended to simplify and standardize signal corps procedures and reduce signal corps personnel, will be discussed here beginning April 17 at a week-long meeting of the nation's nine army service commands.

A two-day conference of signal corps officers and representatives of commercial telephone companies also will be held here later this month.

Plans have been made to conduct a field test of the new operating methods in the Seventh Service Command during the meeting.

Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters admitted steady Japanese pressure in the Kohima area, but said no important engagement had taken place. Fall of Kohima would mean complete severance of the Manipur road linking Imphal, allied communications center, with the railhead to the north.

Another Japanese report beamed to North America by the Domei News Agency announced that "about 20" American B-24 bombers had raided Truk Thursday morning, losing two planes. The Japanese claimed "no damage was caused to our ground installations."

Tokyo also reported 21 American planes, including 15 bombers and six fighters, raided northern Hainan island off the coast of China Thursday and some damage was "sustained by the Japanese forces and ground installations."

LaVerne Tompkins, Blast Victim, Former Edgar Music Teacher

HASTINGS, April 8—(AP)—La Verne J. Thompkins, 31, Ayr, one of those missing and presumed dead in the Hastings naval ordnance depot explosion Thursday, formerly taught music at Edgar, Neb., and Fairfax, Mo.

Tompkins, who was graduated from Hastings college here, where he studied voice and the trumpet, won various music contests during his high school days.

Mrs. Tompkins said she had not been officially notified that her husband was dead and that no funeral or memorial services were planned yet. They have a daughter, Marilyn Lee, 6.

Wheat Close Is Irregular

CHICAGO, April 8—(AP)—

Price changes in grains were small in a listless market today. Commission houses were mostly on the buying side, giving the market a steady undertone. Minor gains were scored by near-by rye contracts but the December delivery was slightly lower most of the session.

Flour mills reporting to the Northwestern Miller, a trade publication, announced their output during March totaled 14,151,428 sacks, a slight decrease from the output of 14,210,335 sacks in the preceding month. In March, 1943, production amounted to 14,054,087 sacks.

At the close wheat was ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher, July $1.71⅝, oats were unchanged to ⅛ higher, July 78¾, and rye was ¼ lower to ¼ higher, May $1.31¼. May barley was bid at $1.28, the ceiling.

break from the Skala pocket farther northwest. The Germans still held out in Tarnopol, but were weakening, the Russians said.

Anzio Strong Point Won

A U. S. combat patrol defeated the Germans in a sharp fight and established a new strong point on the central sector of the Anzio beachhead in Italy, northwest of Padiglione. Artillery fire grumbled on the eastern flank of the beachhead. Light German infiltration stabs were repulsed. Artillery and patrols also were active on the Cassino front.

Allied airmen flew about 1,700 sorties Friday, wrecking 31 enemy planes for a loss of 10. They hit principally at rail communications.

Tito's Forces Advance

Marshal Tito said his Yugoslav partisans were advancing near Ivanjica and the Ibar river valley, southeast of Sarajevo, and that the Germans were pouring troops in from all parts of Serbia.

A Belgian report said the Germans had flooded a small section of Flanders as an anti-invasion move, and were prepared to loose the waters over a broad area when the hour came.

'Willkie Withdrawal Means More Write-in Votes For Tom Dewey'

SCOTTSBLUFF, April 8—(AP)—Republican State Chairman A. T. (Bert) Howard said today he believes Governor Dewey of New York will receive a large write-in vote in the Nebraska presidential preferential primary Tuesday as the result of the withdrawal of Wendell Willkie.

"I think there will be quite a lot of write-in votes for Dewey," Howard said, "perhaps nothing sizeable enough to make an important showing, but he'll get a lot of scattered votes."

On the other hand, Howard said, he had reports that Willkie will receive a large vote "given in confidence and respect to him for his action in withdrawing as a presidential candidate."

Many Leaders Show Losses

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—

It was a "sandwich" stock market today, sliced in between the Good Friday holiday and Easter, and, while investment buying dropped many favorites, small losses for leaders were plentiful.

Few customers showed up in the financial sector, the majority having left Thursday for an extended recess, but those who appeared seemed bullish over political prospects and the earnings outlook despite mounting taxes and other charges.

Mixed tendencies prevailed at the start and the trends were a trifle uneven near the close, with plus signs well distributed. Transfers for two hours were around 400,000 shares. Scattered rails, rubbers, motors and specialties did fairly well.

Among a handful of new 1944 tops were those of Union Pacific and Crane Co. Supported also were Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Gulf, Mobile & Ohio, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, J. C. Penney, Oliver Farm, Standard Oil (N. J.), Du Pont, Westinghouse, American Telephone, International Telephone and Western Union "A."

Backward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Anaconda, Kennecott, General Electric, United Aircraft, Deere and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Bonds were selectively higher.

and a patrol vessel. The 18 damaged vessels, in addition to the battleship which got away, included a destroyer, a large repair ship, three oilers and 12 cargo vessels.

In the Palau islands, 60 buildings, including 20 warehouses, were demolished. Hangars and docks were set ablaze. A phosphate plant was damaged. An ore dock was hit.

Yap and Ulithi, to the northeast of Palau, were attacked March 30. Airdrome facilities and buildings were ripped at Yap. Several small vessels were sunk at Ulithi and the dock, radio station and other buildings were damaged.

Woleai Smacked

Woleai, midway between Palau and Truk, was raided March 31. From seven to 12 planes were destroyed, ground installations, stores and small craft damaged.

Some Japanese planes vainly attacked the task forces as they arrived and as they departed. Carrier craft shot down 17 of these and ships' anti-aircraft winged four more.

The ships' guns also accounted for three small enemy ships sunk.

But the American warships, although moving more than 2,000 miles away from the Kwajalein lagoon base in the western Marshalls, did not stir up a challenge of the Japanese navy.

Synchronized air raids in the central, south and southwest Pacific helped make possible the deep naval excursion which put behind the warships such enemy bases as Truk, Rabaul on New Britain, Wewak and Hollandia on New Guinea.

Truk Planes Pinned Down

Central and south Pacific planes joined in pinning down Truk's air arm. South Pacific planes kept Rabaul neutralized. Southwest Pacific planes knocked out Wewak and destroyed a fleet of 288 enemy planes at Hollandia, nearest New Guinea air base to Palau.

(A recent dispatch from a New Guinea air base by Olen Clements, Associated Press war correspondent, dealing with Hollandia attacks intimated that the warships moving on Palau also shelled objectives but no reference to any bombardment was made in Admiral Nimitz' communique yesterday.)

The Pacific fleet forces in the western Carolines strike were under the tactical command of Admiral Raymond A. Spruance. The carrier task forces were commanded by Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher.

Price Promises Aid In Senate Investigation

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—Disclosing that the correspondence of Count Frederick Karl Von Zedlitz, Buenos Aires German, has been under investigation since 1942, Censorship Director Byron Price promised full co-operation today with a proposed senatorial investigation into the publication of some of the letters.

Price told Senator Reed (R-Kan) in the presence of reporters that the office of censorship is very anxious to find out which government agency was "faithless" in the trust he had placed in the bureaus and had made public letters written to Zedlitz by Miss Vivien Kellems, Westport, Conn., business woman.

Reed has asked the senate postoffice committee to look into the circumstances under which some of Miss Kellem's letters were published by a Washington columnist. They later were placed in the Congressional Record by Rep. Coffee (D.-Wash.) with the charge that Miss Kellems had made "seditious" speeches. Miss Kellems branded Coffee's charges "lies" and asserted he had gained possession of the letters by illegal means.

Envision Germany Bound By Non-Helping Neutrals

Allies Seek To Cut Off Essential Shipments From Turkey and Spain and Check Espionage

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—New American moves to surround nazi Germany with a tight ring of non-co-operating neutrals are expected in the immediate future. They are necessary to prepare the way for the day of invasion now approaching.

Fresh efforts may be expected if in fact they have not already been undertaken, to have Turkey and Spain shut off shipments of essential metals and clamp down on espionage, and to get Turkey into the war before it is too late.

England's severance of communications with Ireland, where axis diplomats still hold forth, may be reinforced by a further American appeal to the Irish government to break with the enemy.

Many experts here would not be surprised at efforts to persuade hard-pressed Sweden to break her remaining commercial ties with Germany. Sweden's resistance to the German pressure would be much stronger if Finland were out of the war, and hope persists here that a Russo-Finnish peace will yet be agreed upon in time to shock German morale and to provide a shot in the arm for the dominated peoples now restlessly awaiting the day of attack in the west.

In another phase of pre-invasion diplomacy the United States and British governments appear to have been stalled at least for a time.

How quickly and completely this stalemate, which is over recognition of the (De Gaulle) French committee of national liberation, might be broken remained a matter of purest speculation among diplomatic officials here since the next move is up to London.

Some light may be thrown on this and other aspects of war diplomacy by Secretary of State Hull tomorrow night when he broadcasts (CBS network at 5:30 P. M., CWT.) on the operation of American foreign policy.

The pressing element in the field of invation diplomacy is the time of the invasion itself. London dispatches have spoken of the day and hour being set. This leads military experts here to believe that the time is not too far off—otherwise unpredictable weather conditions would make it impossible to fix the date so exactly.

—DE GAULLE CONFERENCE—

Giraud Ousted

. . . AS SUPREME COMMANDER

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—Gen. Henri Honore Giraud has been appointed inspector general of the French army, the British radio reported today from Algiers in a broadcast recorded by CBS.

Annoucement of the appoinment apparently meant that Gen. Charles De Gaulle had accepted Giraud's challenge to oust him as commander-in-chief.

Giraud Refuses.

ALGIERS, April 8—(AP)—Gen. Henri Giraud refused to step down as commander-in-chief of French armed forces today and challenged Gen. Charles De Gaulle to oust him during a "disagreeable" 30-minute conference.

A French national committee member who described the meeting at De Gaulle's headquarters at noon said it was "not so well."

De Gaullist circles said, however, that negotiations between the two French leaders were continuing with the likelihood of a definite decision tonight, and it was reported that an exchange of letters containing the final decision would be released tonight.

Giraud retired to his headquarters to deliberate further on the situation following the meeting.

The showdown between the two arose from De Gaulle's efforts to relegate Giraud to the unimportant post of "inspector general of the armies" and take over the command of French land, sea and air forces himself.

Sources close to Giraud said the 65-year-old commander would rather quit than be shelved and humiliated.

Easter Services The World Over For U. S. Troops

LONDON, April 8—(AP)—American armed forces will worship tomorrow in a series of sunrise Easter services—from the front lines of Italy's battle ground to London's Hyde Park.

For thousands it will be their second Easter overseas.

The largest dawn service probably will be the one in Hyde Park. The Bishop of London will deliver the sermon. The services, beginning at 7:30 a. m. (12:30 a. m., C. W. T.) will be broadcast worldwide.

In northern Ireland, where thousands of American troops are awaiting invasion day, Catholic services are planned at St. Bridget's church in Belfast. Elsewhere in the British isles many soldiers will observe the day at small services in scores of Nissen huts.

Within sound of front-line battle, troops of the Fifth army in Italy will attend services.

Civilians in Britain will take this, their fifth wartime Easter in stride, wearing last year's rejuvenated clothing, for under British rationing you do not buy new Easter clothes.

Bataan Anniversary.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, April 8—(AP)—Thousands of American servicemen and women will gather at sunrise Sunday for services symbolizing the spirit which marked the eulogies for the men on Bataan, pronounced two years ago by Gen. Douglas MacArthur and President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines.

The anniversary of the loss of Bataan falls this year on Easter Sunday.

Baseball Set to Boost For Red Cross

—DODGER CLUB PLANNING BUMPER BENEFIT—

By LAWTON CARVER.

NEW YORK, April 8—(INS)—Baseball will make a tremendous contribution in money to the various war agencies this season and the Brooklyn Dodgers are going to start the ball a-rolling next Thursday in a game for the Red Cross at Ebbetts Field. It will be only an exhibition with the Philadelphia Phillies, but the park probably will be packed.

Whitlow Wyatt

The program will include: A parade into the park by service men, Red Cross units, the Dodgers' wash tub symphony, army and coast guard bands, and a 220 mm. cannon captured in North Africa and called "Dirty Gertie From Bizerte."

Inside the park there will be a 30-minute entertainment program featuring songs by Frank Sinatra, and ticket booths will be manned by stage and radio celebrities.

And that's not all. Fat Fred Fitzsimmons, who used to be a Dodger himself and now is manager of the Phillies, will be the starting pitcher for his club against Whitlow Wyatt, ace of the Dodgers.

Lippy Leo At Second.

On top of that, Leo Durocher, the elderly manager of the Dodgers, will play second base, and Dixie Walker, the outfielder, will be at third.

That should be worth the price of admission in itself, even if the money wasn't going to the Red Cross. Yet, Walker may be a fixture at third this season for the simple reason that the Dodgers haven't got anybody any better for the position nor anybody as good for that matter, according to training camp revelations.

Making sure to keep the Dodger-Giant feud going, Durocher has started making cracks about some of the spavined Giants. But look who's talking!

Year's Hottest Jockey.

There isn't a horse-player alive and with the price of a lead pencil who hasn't sat himself down in the last few hours and figured out what a parlay on Jockey Bobby Permane Thursday and Friday would have paid. He has won 13 races in the last three days at Tropical Park and of them five came in a row from the fourth race on yesterday. He has booted home 45 winners at Tropical Park.

Announcement that Outfielder Bill Nicholson is toying with the notion of returning to his farm, instead of staying with the Chicago Cubs, means that if he goes, the National league will lose its standout slugger. He belted 28 homers last season.

Put a Yankee uniform on a ball player and he immediately becomes a terror, is the way an adage goes approximately. Anyway, Ed Levy, called in from the farm by the Yanks to help solve their outfield problem, went on a rampage yesterday with a homer, two doubles and two singles in five times at bat as the Yanks swamped the Athletics. Levy may never do it again, but for a day at least he had the range and pulled the trigger in typical Yankee fashion.

"Wanted, a job in the major leagues swinging a bat at the bush league pitching this season"—Rogers Hornsby.

Rajah Wants A Job.

He didn't put it that way, but he no longer is at Vera Cruz after a brief stay in Mexico as manager, and he is looking for a job.

New York's richest racing season and probably one that will establish an all-time record for betting and gate receipts opens this afternoon at Jamaica. There are still many good horses to come here from other tracks and a number of jockeys, but nothing will stop the customers—not even a field of billy goats so long as they will run and the mutuel windows are in operation.

Redman Recruit Camp Sensation

—INDIAN ROOKIE DAZZLES FOR DODGERS—

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—Baseball players are notoriously superstitious. Most of them shy away from wearing No. 13. To the few who don't, add the name of Rookie Pitcher Tom Warren of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Warren, a 23-year-old Tulsa veteran of Casablanca, apparently thinks that what was good enough for Kirby Higbe is good enough for him. Higbe, star Dodger right-hander now in the army, was one of the minority who wore No. 13. Warren succeeded him as No. 13 and demonstrated yesterday that the supposed hoodoo number holds no terror for him.

SHUTOUT STUFF.

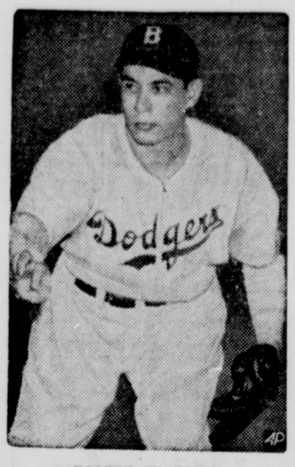

Pitching five innings of shutout ball against the Montreal Internationals at Bear Mountain, N. Y., Warren yielded only three hits and won the game with a two-run triple in the second inning.

Warren issued two bases on balls and struck out three in becoming the first Brooklyn twirler to go more than three innings. If he keeps up such good work after the season opens he will become a Flatbush idol in no time.

BY FRANK ECK.

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y.—He talks with the rapid-fired assuredness of a Dizzy Dean, acts just like Kirby Higbe and what's more, even wears Higbe's old No. 13 uniform. That's Thomas Warren, 190-pound Brooklyn Dodger rookie pitcher.

He's the most colorful hopeful in this elaborate camp on the Hudson. A lot of people, including Manager Leo Durocher, are going to be mighty disappointed if he doesn't make good.

TOMMY WARREN.
Wounded Veteran Packs Punch.

"I've just got to make good," says the 23-year-old 6-foot-1 Tulsa, Okla., athlete whose maternal grandmother was a full-blooded Creek Indian.

CASABLANCA VETERAN.

"My fan mail from overseas is terrific. When you see buddies dying at your feet, that's something you can't forget. Those fellows who got through Casablanca with me are rooting for me and I'd be hanged if I don't make the grade for their sake. I'm still one of them as far as they're concerned."

Warren enlisted in the navy the day after Pearl Harbor, sustained a concussion Nov. 8, 1942 at Casablanca and spent 10 months in the St. Albans (N. Y.) naval hospital. His brother, Larry, 21, is aboard a warship in the Pacific.

OUT TWO YEARS.

Tommy, the first wounded veteran of World War II signed by a major league club, has been out of baseball two years but his first week workouts in the West Point fieldhouse left little to be desired.

He has maximum confidence in his abilities. Some might call it overconfidence, but along the banks of Brooklyn's Gowanus Canal they call it Guts. Durocher doesn't say so, but you can sense it that Warren is the kind of a ballplayer Lippy wants in his club.

If the Dodgers were to launch the season three days after opening camp here, Tommy might have been No. 1 flinger. That's how quickly he whipped himself into shape.

::I've been watching Warren," Durocher said after five workouts in the huge Military Academy drill shed. "He's always walking and running around and you can bet he'll be ready."

SWINGS POWER BAT.

Tom is a right-hander, throws overhand and underhand and has a knuckler, but he's apt to get into man, games as a hitter. He bats from either side of the plate and when Tom Greenwade, Dodger scout, saw him before war broke out, he was an outfielder.

"I never saw him pitch, but he can hit and run and that's enough for me," says Greenwade. "He's the fastest man on the club."

Warren's only professional experience was in the now defunct class D West Texas-New Mexico league, where he won 15 games and lost nine for Midland. That was in 1938 at the tender age of 18. Three years later, Amarillo, Tex., obtained his services and his outfielding and hitting put the club in the playoffs.

In the interim he pitched semi-pro ball in Perry, Okla., where he lost five games in three years. As a high school pitcher in Tulsa, he says he was never beaten in three seasons. Playing in the Denver Post tournament in 1941, he hit a homer with the bases loaded.

TALENTED ATHLETE.

Warren is also talented in other sports. In school he played football and basketball and a few years ago he won California's 175-pound Golden Gloves final.

"We're looking for hitting pitchers," says Branch Rickey, Dodger president. "We may have another Chick Hafey or Stan Musial, or even another Babe Ruth in camp. Who knows? They started out as pitchers."

Warren may not resemble any of these stars at the plate but he's certainly got a head start on them when it comes to color.

When Elmer Durrett, young outfielder who spent 21 months on Guadalcanal, interrupted Warren during a trip from Bear Mountain to West Point with the remark: "You act just like Higbe," Warren's reply was:

Yea. But Higbe couldn't hit left-handed."

Check For Kid Crime

Iowa Man Claims Baseball Provides Very Best Cure For Juvenile Delinquency.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 8—(INS)—Baseball could go a long way toward stopping juvenile delinquency, in the opinion of Jack Taylor, Des Moines business man who was voted as the nation's number one baseball sponsor for 1943 by the national baseball congress at Wichita, Kan.

"We could stop a lot of juvenile delinquency and at the same time develop athletes for the future if more men would stop to pay some attention to the neighborhood kids," Taylor said.

"We can develop talent in amateur and semi-pro ball as well as the minor leagues, and this program would give more boys an opportunity to play and keep them too busy to get into mischief."

Taylor, who is 43, spent $7,300 last year in sponsoring three teams in Des Moines. One of the teams, the Des Moines Onthank club, won seventh place in the annual semi-pro national tournament at Wichita last summer.

Family of Nine.

The Des Moines man could put out on the field of baseball team of his own family, having nine children—but three of them are girls.

He considers the money he spent last year well spent.

"I got more than my money's worth of fun," Taylor said when asked why he spent so much.

His number one hope is to restore baseball to the spot it once enjoyed when every town—even the crossroad community—had a baseball team.

He has been active in all phases of boys work in Des Moines and plans to expand his work this summer. He already has asked the city council to lease the old Western league baseball park for his teams this summer and he will pay the bills. Des Moines has had no professional baseball since the Western league folded up several years ago.

Still Active This Year.

In addition to his semi-pro team which went to Wichita last year, he had two Legion Junior league squads and his plans for 1944 call for sponsoring all of them again this year.

Taylor believes the major leagues should send their scouts to the bushes, as they once did, and they will find enough talent to take care of their replacements.

Pointing out that there is little hope for the minors to be revived until after the war, Taylor said that the semi-pro program can "easily fill the gap.

"All the sport needs is a few more baseball-minded men, who can afford it to step in and give the boys a boost," he said.

Yankees Have Stuff To Surprise Critics

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 8 — (AP) — Veteran New York Yankee Scout Johnny Nee, here on his annual southern search for baseball talent, says "the Yankees are going rapidly and if the army takes away more of them, I don't know what they'll look like on opening day."

Nee said in an interview that the Yankees have "just about exhausted the Kansas City and Newark supply lines," but said the team "will be in there battling with such material as is available."

"And there may be a rude awakening for some prophets who are freely predicting that Manager Joe McCarthy's team will finish in the second division," Nee added.

Scrappy Moore, new Chattanooga manager, hasn't been in baseball since 1934, when he played at Toronto.

SPORTS Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—Bill Brandt is planning to pick an all-college team from this year's National league rookie crop . . . Here's an attempt to improve on the idea by tossing in a few from the American league, which doesn't have enough collegians to fill all positions.

PITCHERS Joe Wood, Jr., Yale and Red Sox; John Johnson, Michigan Normal and Yankees; Emerson Roser, Clarkson and Yankees; Carl Lundquist, Mansfield (Pa.) Teachers and Braves; Frank Seward, Duke and Giants; Dale Alderson, Upper Iowa and Cubs.

Catchers — Lenny Price, San Francisco Junior college and Reds; Joe Stephenson, Western Michigan and Giants; William Mills, Holy Cross and Athletics.

First base — Lon Goldstein, Texas Wesleyan and Reds.

Second base — Hugh Luby, Creighton and Giants, or Don Johnson, Oregon State and Cubs.

Shortstop—Ben Geraghty, Villanova and Braves.

Third base—George Kell, Arkansas State and Athletics; or Buck Fausett, East Texas State and Reds.

Outfield—Eddie Sauer, Elon and Cubs; Tony Criscola, Whitman and Reds; Steve Filipowicz, Fordham and Giants.

A KID who made all-state teams in both football and basketball from Utah's Davis high school is aptly named Jimmy Cleverly . . . And Tee Branca, Salt Lake golf pro, was christened "Tei" but changed his first name for professional purposes . . . Back in 1915-'16, Cal Pieh pitched three shutouts for the Yankees . . . Easy as pieh, eh?

MANAGER Tommy Farmer reports he will take Bantamweight Champion Manuel Ortiz to Boston in June for a outdoor bout against Willie Pep, who seems to have outgrown his feather title claims . . . Farmer and Eddie Mack, the Boston matchmaker, grew up together . . . Dennis Shea, National Football league treasurer, once played stock with Donald Meek of the movies and did publicity for George M. Cohan and Caruso . . . The Massachusetts Tech crew probably has the tallest stroke in captivity, six-foot, seven-inch Chick Street.

Racing In Readiness To Start

NEW YORK, April 3—(INS)—The 1944 metropolitan racing season and a new tax on horses begins concurrently today at Jamaica, where 14 thoroughbreds are entered in the featured Paumonok Handicap.

Officials at the track are expecting a larger opening day crowd than was seen in 1943, but a smaller total bet. The crowd at last year's curtain-raiser was 26,426 and the handle was $1,308,919. Anticipation of lighter wagering was based on the fact that the fields might be small, due to the difficulty of getting horses in shape for early-season running.

Apache, Belair stud star, and Greentree stable's Devil Diver, both carrying 130 pounds, are top choices to take the Paumonok. Other tough horses in the tradition-frosted Paumonok are Mettlesome, Flak, Eurasian, Boysy, Cassis and Alex Barth, with Bill Sickle, Swimmin' Hole, Brownie, Eye for Eye, Go-Gino and Dartaway rounding out the field.

Jockey Bobby Permane Has Sensational Win Streak On Gallopers On Florida Track.

MIAMI, Fla., April 8—(AP)—Jockey Bobby Permane's parents raised their boy to be a crooner.

The curly-haired apprentice who set a record by riding five winners at Tropical Park yesterday for the second consecutive day, comes from a theatrical family and spent his boyhood behind the footlights.

It was a blow to his mother, Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, when he turned to riding horses, but she decided today that the boy had done all right in his new profession.

"He's really getting top billing," she declared.

Bobby's parents were in vaudeville when he was born, between engagements, at Camden, N. J., 20 years ago. He slipped naturally into a career as an entertainer and sang on the radio and toured America and Australia with a song and monologue skit. His father, who did a concertina and comic trapeze act, died six years ago and his mother now is married to an army air forces sergeant on duty in the South Pacific.

Sinatra of the Turf.

When Bobby put on silks at Garden State Park in New Jersey last August, he didn't say much about his theatrical past, but he wasn't disconcerted when it became general knowledge during the Tropical Park season and the other jockeys began calling him the "Sinatra of the turf."

"That's not for me," Bobby grinned. "All that fellow has that I want is his weight."

The youngster did well at Hialeah, but did not round into top form until the Tropical Park season was well advanced. He began a sensational spurt that has given him 45 firsts in 29 days, 13 in the last three.

Popular Rassler Is Jerry

If Promoter Adam Krieger ever gets around to conducting a popularity contest as a adjunct to his rassle shows at the fairgrounds arena, the votes doubtless would come rolling in to establish Jerry Adam as the No. 1 popularity man of the Krieger stable.

JERRY ADAM.

Jerry, a University of Nebraska football and wrestling product, is booked to take on Bill Dusin in the semi-windup bout of Monday night's show at the arena.

And Lou Nova, once a Joe Louis challenger and twice knockout victor over Maxie Baer, a champion in his time, will be present Monday night as referee.

A's String Smashed By Yanks

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 8—INS)—The New York Yankees had a reason for broad grins today after taking over the Philadelphia Athletics, 13 to 5, in yesterday's exhibition contest. The victory snapped a two-game Yankee losing streak and an Athletics' six-game winning skein.

Pacific Coast Baseball Loop Clubs Set Wheels Whirling In Season's Opening Games

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8—(AP)—The 1944 Pacific Coast league baseball season opens today, with all eight clubs swinging into action for a 164-game season.

Night baseball will return after two seasons of dimouts, due to wartime conditions.

The eight clubs will be manned by veterans, youngsters, some who have been given 4-F classification by their draft boards and others whose service classification remains undetermined.

In today's openings, Sacramento will play at home against the Los Angeles Angels, Portland's Beavers meet the San Francisco Seals in San Francisco, the Seattle Indians play the Hollywood Stars at Hollywood and the Oakland Acorns meet the San Diego Padres at San Diego.

J. Louis In Britain To Tour Army Bases

LONDON, April 8—(AP)—Sgt. Joe Louis has reached Britain to start a tour of the army's invasion base giving boxing exhibitions, it was announced today. The heavyweight champion has not yet reached London, however, and details of his trip were not disclosed immediately.

British sports fans are anxious to see Louis matched against their champion, Freddie Mills, but there is believed to be little chance that the two will meet, as Louis is committed to the job of troop morale building under the direction of army special services.

Gives His 'OK' To Basket Statutes

NORMAN, Okla., April 8—Basketball fans everywhere will like the 1945 rules with five personal fouls and unlimited substitution legalized, and goal-tending banned.

That's the opinion of Bruce Drake, Oklahoma's youthful roundball-prexy, who strongly advocated all three changes.

Drake thought the five-foul rule should have been passed back in 1937, when elimination of the center jump not only added six or seven minutes to the length of every game, but furiously speeded up the game's tempo, thereby increasing the probability of fouls.

Cubs Get Even With White Sox

FRENCH LICK, Ind., April 8—(INS) — The Chicago Cubs, who pioneered the idea of training in the north even before war-time restrictions forced it, favor this site for next year's camp, General Manager Jim Gallagher revealed today.

Manager Jimmie Wilson, pleased with the 12 to 3 victory his charges produced over the Chicago White Sox yesterday, planned to use some of his newer mound help against the Cincinnati Reds today.

The Cub victory evened the spring city series at one and one.

Bud Plans to Take on Wife No. 2

PALM BEACH, Fla., April 8—(AP)—Sgt. Buddy Baer, hospitalized here to recover from injuries received in an automobile accident, has announced his engagement to Ruth Eleanor Boynton Phillips of Lake Worth, Fla., and Dexter, Me.

Baer, who once fought Joe Louis for the heavyweight boxing title, announced through the Ream general hospital public relations office that the wedding will take place Sept. 9, when his divorce decree becomes final. His fiancee, employed at the Morrison field army air base, is also engaged in divorce proceedings.

Scrappy Moore, new Chattanooga manager, is returning to baseball after having spent several years as head coach of teams at the University of Chatanooga.

Four players discharged from service are with the Giants this season. They are Pitchers Ockey, Brondell and Miller and Outfielder Nichols.

Slaps Tax On Horses

City of New York All Set Collect from Owners Whose Nags Run Gotham Tracks.

NEW YORK, April 8—(INS)—New York City was prepared today for the first time in its history to impose a tax on all horses racing at the two tracks within the city limits.

A levy of one per cent of the horse's value will be asked as a compensating use tax by the city from every owner who starts a horse in a race at the Jamaica or Aqueduct tracks.

Notices to this effect were posted in the office of the secretary of the Metropolitan Jockey club, which conducts the racing at Jamaica and which opens the New York season today.

The sign posted at the Jamaica race track stated:

"All horse owners or their agents shall, at the time of entering a horse in a race, pay to the city of New York a compensation use tax equal to one per cent of the value of such horse or, in lieu thereof, deposit a surety bond in amount of at least $100."

It's War In Italy, So Golf Is Out

OMAHA, April 8—(AP)—Although it's spring in Italy, too, there will be no golf again this year for the state's reigning champion, Lt. Bob Fraser, who won the championship in 1941, the last year a tournament was held.

In a recent letter to Pro Stanley Davis at the Field club here, Fraser said he was anxious to play golf again. He said he hadn't seen a golf club since going overseas.
